

COMMISSION ON CERTIFICATION

This certifies that

Pratiksha Rajkumar Gawali

No. 236407

has satisfactorily complied with the requirements of the CCHIIM under the auspices of AHIMA, and is therefore qualified as a

Certified Coding Specialist (CCS)

February 26, 2020

Timothy Keough, MPA, RHIA, FAHIMA
AHIMA Board President/Chair
American Health Information Management Association

Debra Primeau, MA, RHIA, FAHIMA
Chair
Commission on Certification for Health Informatics and Information Management

Wylecia Harris, PhD, CAE
Chief Executive Officer
American Health Information Management Association

Pratiksha Rajkumar Gawali
5/49, Near court naka, New Police Line, Thane west, Thane
Thane, Maharashtra, 400601
India

Pratiksha Rajkumar Gawali,

Congratulations on earning your Certified Coding Specialist (CCS) credential. This credential distinguishes you as a leader in the health information industry. By earning the CCS credential, you have successfully demonstrated your competence in and commitment to health information management (HIM). On behalf of the American Health Information Management Association (AHIMA), I'd like to welcome you to the professional HIM community.

AHIMA offers opportunities to connect with other CCS and HIM professionals through events, continuing education, and electronic communities. We recommend joining AHIMA as a member, to take full advantage of the many opportunities and resources AHIMA has to offer. AHIMA membership has a new model with updated categories and now includes access to a variety of products worth 4-8 CEUs! Learn more about the new model and join today at <https://my.ahima.org/membership>. If you are currently a member, maintaining your AHIMA membership is beneficial in supporting you with continuing your professional development and advancement.

Now that you have earned your Certified Coding Specialist (CCS) credential, please add the CCS acronym to your professional correspondence and communications. To obtain a copy of your certificate please log into your CEU account at <https://my.ahima.org/login>.

Keeping your credential in an active status is important. Please ensure you are following the eligibility guidelines for the recertification process. For more information on the recertification process please refer to the Recertification Guide on the AHIMA website <https://my.ahima.org/certification/recertification>.

If you have questions about your certification or AHIMA membership, please contact AHIMA's Customer Relations Department at (800) 335-5535 or info@ahima.org.

Again, congratulations on earning your CCS!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, reading "Wylecia Wiggs Harris", written in dark ink.

Wylecia Wiggs Harris
Chief Executive Officer

The American Health Information Management Association (AHIMA) is pleased to announce that Pratiksha Rajkumar Gawali has passed the examination and earned the Certified Coding Specialist (CCS) credential. This credential supports an individual's ability to adhere to health information management industry standards and regulations.

Credentialed individuals are also authorized to use the "CCS" acronym in professional correspondence and publications.

Please join AHIMA in congratulating Pratiksha Rajkumar Gawali for this significant achievement!

If you have questions or need additional information, please contact AHIMA's Customer Relations Department at (800) 335-5535.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, reading "Wylecia Wiggs Harris".

Wylecia Wiggs Harris
Chief Executive Officer